

GREETINGS FROM THE CO-PRESIDENTS

The College of Idaho has a great number of positives, from our small student-faculty ratio to the national recognition we've received from publications such as Forbes, U.S. News and World Report and The Wall Street Journal, but one of the most exciting opportunities we want your students to know about our College is the return of the Heritage Scholarship – an opportunity for your most exceptional students to receive a full-tuition scholarship to Idaho's number one college.

Designed specifically for students with top academic records and a sincere desire for rigorous study, the Heritage Scholarship is awarded to five students in each incoming class. The selected students will receive full-tuition support across the entirety of their undergraduate career, indexed to cover any possible tuition increases during their four years.

Upon accepting the scholarship, these students are members of our Gipson Honors Program, receiving the benefits of a community of equally academically-minded students who participate in unique honors programming and advanced leadership opportunities. This high-impact program is taken even further through a one-time funding award for Heritage Scholars to allow them to pursue academically-fulfilling experiences, including independent creative projects, research work, internships, and study away opportunities.

The Heritage Scholar program is tailor-made for the nation's best and brightest students. The qualifications for application are certainly rigorous, but few other programs in the state of Idaho can compete with the level of active engagement the chosen scholars can receive at the College. Heritage Scholars will find themselves engrossed in a truly enriching college experience, not only for their academic futures, but for their personal growth as individuals.

We invite you to encourage your strongest students to learn more about our Heritage Scholar program and we invite you and your students to visit our campus to experience The College of Idaho firsthand. Once you step foot in Caldwell, it is our hope that all capable students and counselors will recognize the benefit and value of this remarkable scholarship.

Sincerely,

Doug Brigham and Jim Everett
Co-Presidents, The College of Idaho
