

Posted 5/4/2022

Philosophy Instructor – Critical Reasoning

The Philosophy and Religious Studies Department at the College of Idaho invites applications for the position of part-time instructor of philosophy to teach one course in Fall 2022.

The successful candidate will teach PHI-150 Critical Reasoning. This introductory argument analysis course is meant to help students develop their abilities to identify, assess, and construct arguments. The course is well-established and structured in a way that makes teaching it widely accessible. Mindtap (a book/homework package for Critical Thinking: The Art of Argument by Rainbolt and Dwyer) is integrated with Canvas, our online learning management system, and grades for homework are automatically recorded. The department can provide additional support as needed for teaching the course.

The preferred qualification would be a Master's degree in an appropriate area of study and prior teaching experience.

Candidates must be authorized to work in the United States as of the expected hire date and throughout the date of the contract without sponsorship from The College of Idaho.

Send a cover letter, a CV, and contact information for three references to HR@collegeofidaho.edu with the subject line "Philosophy Instructor." Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

With over 130 years of history, The College of Idaho is a regional and national leader in higher education. The College of Idaho is an inclusive community of exceptional learning that challenges the ambitious and forges pathways to success and purpose.

The College of Idaho is proud to be an equal opportunity employer. We are committed to attracting, retaining, and maximizing the performance through a diverse and inclusive workforce.