KAITLIN HELLER '19

"What I love the most about The College of Idaho is the fact that everyone who comes into contact with this school, leaves it feeling a sense of love and community you cannot find anywhere else. Being a Yote is unique. I wish I could thank each and every person who has helped me and so many other students experience this love in full."

"When I think about my time at The College I recognize the tremendous impact financial assistance has had on my education. As someone who has recently been paying her own way through college I would not have been able to attend this school if it wasn't for the gifts given to me by this school, its alumni, and gracious donors. I have also been granted the life-altering opportunity to practice my love for the arts in both theatre and choir, due to scholarships – something I would not have been able to pursue at another school, due to not majoring in either."
