

The Wells Fargo Foundation Community Grant

The Wells Fargo Foundation Community Grant helps fund students' participation in high impact practices including research, study away, internships, independent study, student conferences and service learning. Students applying for funding must demonstrate financial need (defined by FAFSA standards) and the project being funded must be affiliated with an experience that will be registered for, or participated in, within the same academic year (i.e. pre-research during the summer that aligns to a fall independent study course).

This grant may award up to $450.00 per applicant.

Award Criteria:

- Latino Students or First Generation
- High Financial Need (defined by FAFSA standards)
