Visiting Assistant Professor, Biology Department

The College of Idaho invites applications to fill a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor position for the 2020-2021 academic year. This is a 9-month contract which includes teaching 21 credits over two semesters and a 3-week January term.

The Department seeks a broadly-educated Evolutionary Ecologist who will contribute to the biology curriculum. The individual will teach lower-division courses (including laboratory) in Population Ecology and Organismal Biology, an upper-division course in Evolution or Systematics, and an upper-division course in Conservation Biology.

Excellent teaching and mentoring of students are the highest priorities of the College. The successful candidate will be an active scholar with a commitment to working closely with undergraduate students in a liberal arts college setting.

Qualifications:

- College teaching experience in relevant coursework
- Doctoral degree completed by the beginning of Fall 2020 term in ecology, evolutionary biology, or related discipline
- Broad background in biology
- Commitment to undergraduate liberal arts education

Candidates must be authorized to work in the United States as of the expected hire date and throughout the date of the contract without sponsorship from the College.

Rolling review of candidates will begin May 4, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.
